- Tension Fabric Structures • Retail Environments
- Corporate Briefing Centers • SMU's
- Point-Of-Purchase Displays

Architectural Design Services

Divinitas Displays is at the forefront of architectural design services. From initial consultation through sketching, study models and final renderings, our goal is not just an attractive design, but one that will create sensory impact while providing a real return on the investment made.

Our designers specialize in exhibits, interiors, kiosks, POP's, SMU's and mobile marketing events. If you need something designed for your brand, we can be trusted to develop an on-budget solution that exceeds your expectations.

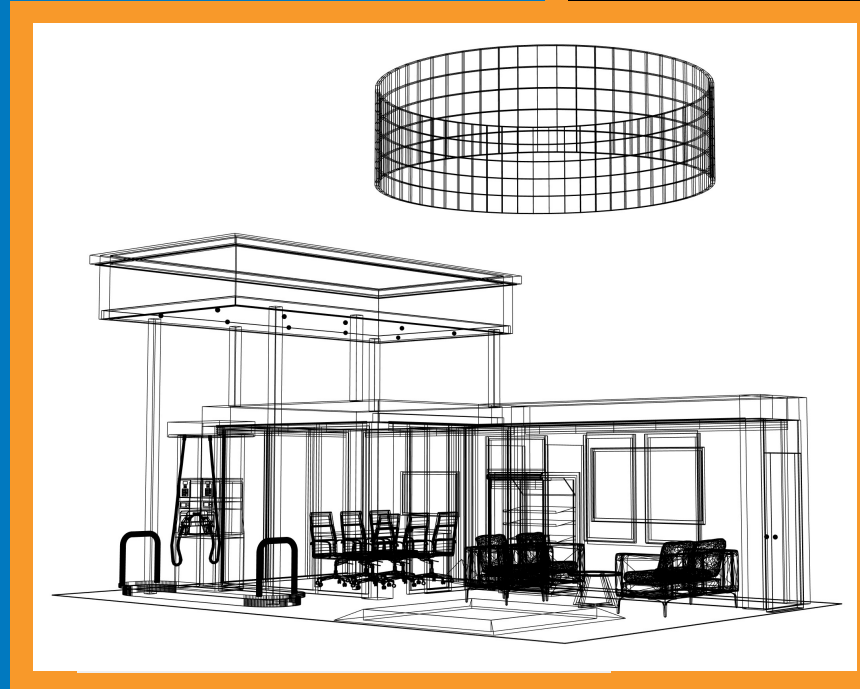

Our Process

Our design approach is quite methodical. For us, an in depth discussion to understand your needs and goals is a must. This will allow us to move effectively design for your budget.

An initial concept is developed, discussed and then refined further. The final approved rendering is then converted into schematic drawings for fabrication to ensure an accurate reproduction of the design.

From there, our team of custom fabricators, project managers, and show site installers apply great attention to detail and a passion for quality to the execution of your project, from fabrication to setup and beyond.

Proven Results

Our primary focus is to directly support your marketing efforts and help you drive an increase in sales, all with the least amount of stress and worry on the part of our clients.

This is what our team does every day and we are excited by the prospect of providing that value to you too.

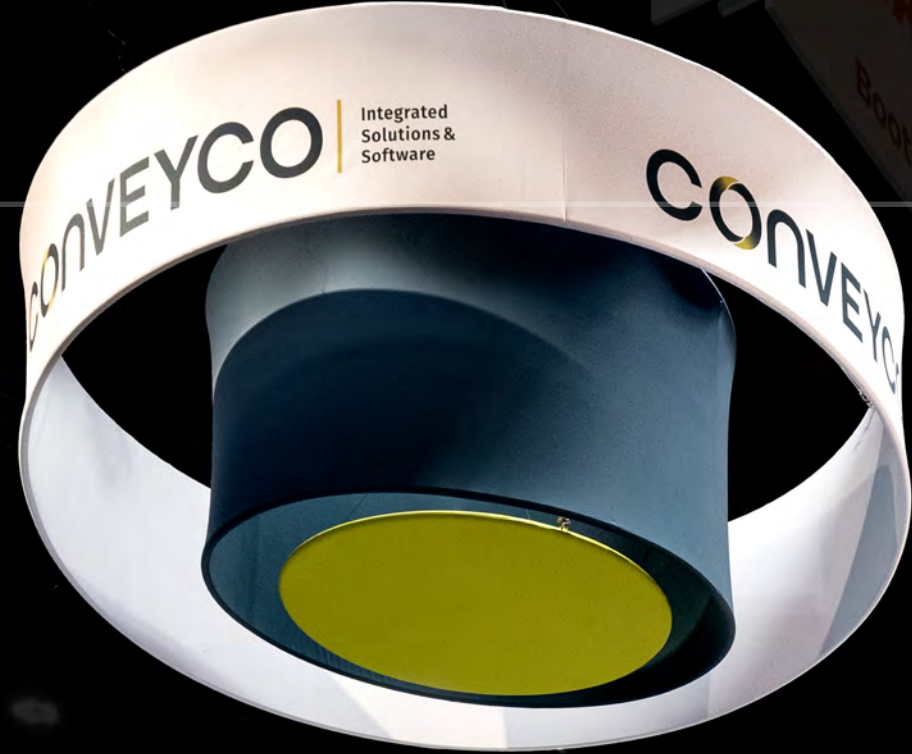

Any Size Project

Every investment, no matter how big or small, deserves a solid return.

With that in mind, every project - regardless of scope - receives the same aggressive attention to detail and quality.

One Price

We pride ourselves on achieving the best solution for your target budget. We take it a step further. Unlike other exhibit companies Divinitas provides you with a price guarantee in writing. The price listed on the scope of work proposal is all you pay. Period. If there is a cost overrun, we deal with it. If you add to the scope of work, we provide an updated price guarantee.

No stress, No surprises, No reconciliation.

Experience Unlimited Potential

Divinitas has a complete range of related services. From graphic design and production to show advertising, collateral materials and more. It's a total marketing package to help you stand out on the trade show floor.

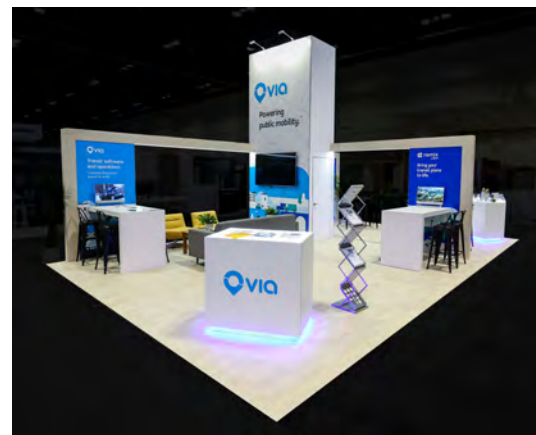

No other trade show marketing company combines the tools, technology and services in ways we do. Bringing you and your company extraordinary and lasting impact while bolstering existing sales, or helping introduce new products.
